

STRANDMØLLEN'S SUPPLIER CODE OF CONDUCT

Strandmøllen has been owned by a foundation since 1967. That means the company has a solid, long-term and financially consolidated owner. Strandmøllen's founder, Christian Nielsen, and his vision have been motivational for us to continue his work growing our business sustainably, to the benefit of customers and employees.

We want to achieve success through fair competition and ethical & legal behavior. A credible business relationship that will benefit everybody can only exist if there is fair competition and it is fully compliant with the law. All collaboration at Strandmøllen between colleagues and with external partners is characterized by security, trust, reliability and honesty. To be able to retain the trust and confidence of our customers, employees and the public authorities, it's vital that we always conduct ourselves with respect for justice and the law, and follow our own internal regulations.

We are aware of our responsibility to our customers, employees and organizations, and we therefore set out ethical, social and legal guidelines and principles in this Supplier Code of Conduct, to be able to maintain our successful collaboration. Hence, Strandmøllen's Code of Conduct defines the general principles and requirements applicable to Strandmøllen suppliers and other external partners.
